

Abdirahman Mohamed (7 Justice)

As the sun gobbled up the night I arose from my bed but something was different I was in another body. I was trembling with fear then I heard a noise saying "Bonny come downstairs breakfast is ready,". Bonny???? I thought to myself. "whose Bonny?" I asked curiously. But the lady just replied with "Don't act dumb I'm your mother,". Suddenly a random phone call called me "Are you that kid with the demon green flames inside of him,". I furiously replied with "NO!". "Don't play games with me I know where you live if you don't do this job for me I'll blow your brains out with my pistol,". I just agreed and went with the flow. I quickly tipped down the stairs so nobody could hear me. Whilst I was walking I noticed things that which my dimension never had things that were oddly mysterious. I just realised that I never knew where I was going so I called the number and asked "Where was I going again?". They replied with "The house is across the street,". I ran over to the house but as soon as I played my foot in the house something about this house gave me chilling vibes. As I was exploring I noticed somebody else was there and as soon as I layed my eye on the person I heard a gun shot from the far distance and the person's blood was On my hands. Suddenly I heard somebody scream "MUDERER!" "THAT BOY IS THE SPAWN OF SATAN THAT WAS MY SON" She screamed with anger. Everyone was crowding then I noticed some green aura coming out of me. "Was this what they were talking about the demon inside of me?" I thought to myself. It felt like I was out of control. I saw my body move slowly move then suddenly I saw myself attacking everybody With extreme rage .let felt like I was trapped in a cage. People were screaming in fear. "AHHH ITS THE SOAWN OF SATAN!". I saw myself killing somebody and leaving there lifeless body on the ground. Finally I was in control of my body. Now people fear me and look at me with disgust I am currently wondering in The streets and I went to prison for something I didnt do A few years ago I was wondering who brought me to this corrupt dimension but now I'm starting to gather clues about this world. There are a lot of mysteries like Why me why did I get brought here not anyone else and why did I need to do the job. But now I finally know what brought me here. I can remember like it was yesterday. I was riding my bike across the street but I noticed a wierd looking box. Curious me thought what big of a deal can it do it's just a box. Stupidly I twisted a leaver which led me to this corrupt dimension. I am still looking for that time box which led me here and when I find it I will leave